Who Is a Probate Referee?

Probate Referees are appointed by the State Controller to serve a specific county. Referees are officers of the court but are not employees of the State of California. In court-type matters, such as probates and conservatorships, the court designates the Referee on a rotation basis. In the case of trusts or non-probate matters, the trustee or estate representative may select the Referee.

What Does the Probate Referee Do?

The Probate Referee appraises all property in the estate, except for "cash" type items. It is the responsibility of the personal representative or trustee (personal representative) to provide the Referee with the list of property items to be appraised (Inventory and Appraisal DE 160 & 161). After the completion of the Inventory and Appraisal by the Probate Referee, the estate representative or conservator must file the Inventory and Appraisal with the court. There are specific time schedules required for these court filings and the estate representatives should be familiar with the time requirements.

What is the Inventory and Appraisal?

The Inventory and Appraisal is a complete listing of the estate assets as of a particular date, usually the date of death. In a guardianship or conservatorship estate, it is the date of appointment. The Inventory and Appraisal for non-court proceedings, such as trusts, petitions and non-court appraisals for tax purposes are normally listed on a different form called the "Appraisal Report of California Probate Referee." These forms are designed to be attached to the Federal Estate Tax Return (Form 706) or the Federal Gift Tax Return (Form 709).

Where do I Find the Necessary Forms?

All forms necessary including the "GUIDE TO USING PROBATE REFEREES" can be found on the Probate Referees Association website <http://probatereferrees.net/>.

The Referee's guide explains in detail, with examples, the necessary steps for the proper preparation of the Inventory and Appraisal forms. The Conservator Handbook also contains helpful information on preparing an Inventory and Appraisal.

How Should the I&A Be Filled Out?

The Inventory and Appraisal (DE 160 and 161) should be filled out in a complete and in a legible manner. The DE 160 is the court form, and the DE 161 is the attachment schedule listing the items to be valued by the Representative (Attachment #1) and the Referee (Attachment #2). The assets listed on the attachment should be completely and accurately described. (See the attached exhibit for reference and guidance).
